Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 7 (I.N.S.).—Two alleged members of the "poison liquor" ring, Thomas Argo, 29, and Stephen Carol, 32, both of Buffalo, were looked up here today when they were unable to furnish $25,000 bail.

STEAMERS CRASH IN FOG

Portland, Me., Aug. 7 (A.P.).—The Casco Bay Line steamers Pilgrim and Emila crashed head on in the fog today in the harbor, just below Portland Breakwater. The Pilgrim struck the smaller steamer a foot from the stem and tore away the planking from the deck to the water line. The Pilgrim was only slightly damaged. Passengers aboard both vessels remained calm.

FIVE HALL WITNESSES UNDER SURVEILLANCE

Somerville, N. J., Aug. 7 (A.P.).—Five important witnesses in the Hall-Mills death investigation were under State police surveillance today, while other members of the force continued their scrutiny of testimony carried on the search for a number of important records of those involved.

Investigations which have been reported today.

State Senator Alexander Simpson, special deputy attorney general, investigating the case, and Captain J. J. Lamb of the State police, announced last night that warrants had been issued for arrest of the five, but that they would not be taken into custody unless they attempted to leave the State.

The general trend of the investigation at this stage is to summon for questioning every person who had any connection with the house hold of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, Episcopalian minister of New Brunswick, whose body, with that of his alleged sweetheart, choir singer was found beneath a crabapple tree just this side of the county line in September, 1925.

EDLER SWAM 30 MILES; WINS AUTO

QUEEN OF SEA BACK IN FRANCE

Boulogne, France, Aug. 7 (A.P.).—Gertrude Edler, conqueror of the English Channel, returned to France this afternoon to receive a triumphal welcome.

A great crowd of admirers had gathered, and the American swimmer was presented a bouquet while motion picture operators filmed the scene.

Miss Edler is spending the night at her old quarters on Cape Gréner, where she began her record-breaking swim.

Dover, Eng., Aug. 7.—The glory of the record-breaking English Channel swim of Gertrude Edler, 19-year-old American girl, was heightened today when it was estimated that she covered between 30 and 35 miles, counting both swim and drift.

Her epochal accomplishment in considered all the more remarkable in view of the extra distance the girl swam in negotiating the crossing.

Despite the honors that were showered on her "Trude" seemed most pleased over the fact that the automobile her father had promised her would be hers as soon as she gets home.

"Pop" Edler had assured his daughter that if she made the Channel swim he would give her a roadster. Proudly on her arrival at the tide basin after landing on the Continent on Page 1, Column 5.

MISTRESS OF THE SEA, A RIVAL, TRAINER

'Just Like a Dream,' Says Trudie.

By GERTRUDE EDLER
(As told to an International News Service Correspondent.)

Dover, Eng., Aug. 7.—It seemed like a dream and now that I was right a year ago when I said I would swim the English Channel.

The great point in my swimming my hotel in France and I woke up at 11 a. m. all was to show that a girl

TROOPS STORM CHURCH, IN FURIOUS BATTLE OF CATHOLICS IN MEXICO

By JOHN PAGE
Universal Service Correspondent
(Special Cable to Universal Service)

Mexico City, Aug. 7.—Guadalajara, the largest city in western Mexico, was the scene of furious fighting between Catholics and government troops, with Catholics entrenched and stubbornly resisting the efforts to dislodge them, according to an official statement issued by the Mexican episcopate.

Archbishop Paschel Diaz, acting head of the Catholic church of Mexico, in handing the bulletin to Universal said:

"Grave events are occurring at this moment at Guadalajara. The government forces succeeded in capturing the sanctuary of the Virgin of Guadalupe after a fierce fighting. Five Catholics and several soldiers were killed and 416 Catholics made prisoners."

"At the Church of Jesus there were two killed and one wounded, but the Catholics continued to defend."

'THEY WON'T DIE!' SAYS CARBARN TRIO LAWYER

A trip to Edgartown, Martha's Vineyard, where Judge Bailey is on vacation, may be necessary because of the short time before the death of the three men, says a lawyer.

"I am confident that the three men will not die in the electric chair next week," declared Attorney Francis A. Juggins, counsel for the three doomed men, today.

Asked upon what grounds he based his hope, Attorney Juggins said, "On certain developments of the last few hours."

He had just left Devereaux, Maine, and McLaughlin after a four-hour conference in the death house where he made his statement. He was non-committal as to details of the last-ditch fight, but his move made during the day disclosed the one hope lies with Judge Henry K. Bailey of the Supreme Court.

Other visitors at the death cell were William Jones and Marie McLaughlin, brothers and sister of John J. McLaughlin, Jr. and Marie, and sister of the deceased family, and the lawyer's family.

Meanwhile the Chemistry Committee, made up of the men and women, continued on Page 18, Column 4.

MILITARY REVOLT IN LENINGRAD; 1,000 SEIZED

London, Aug. 7 (I.N.S.).—A military revolution has broken out in Leningrad, centering about the Kronstadt, according to news from Warsaw, says a Copenhagen dispatch to the Central News.

Detachments report Trotsky has left Moscow for Leningrad, though it is not clear whether Trotsky is supposed to be revolt.

The Copenhagen dispatches told evidence a dispatch saying Leningrad revolutionaries have overthrown the government buildings and the Kronstadt.

A state of siege has been declared by the rebels. It is reported.

Reports declare that the Soviet government agents are taking drastic measures, and that more than a thousand arrests have been made.

An ammunition dump, believed to belong to the rebels, has been seized by the government.

WANDER TO OHIO; BOTH ARE SHELL SHOCKED

Father of One of Them Finds the Pair Dazed and Unkempt in Home Town

Toledo, O., Aug. 7 (A.P.).—Oliver C. Bliss, 18, of Waterville, O., and Paul W. Moran, of New Britain, Ct., privates in the United States Marine Corps, listed as missing since the explosion that destroyed the United States naval ammunition depot at Lake Denmark, N. J., are at the home of Bliss' parents near Waterville.

Both men appear shell shocked. They have been wandering in a dazed condition since the day of the explosion, Bliss' parents said. The two marines were found at the Interurban station here today by Verne Bliss, Oliver's father.

FOUND BY FATHER.
A cousin, Ralph, had reported that he thought he had seen Oliver on a Toledo street and his father started a search for him. He happened to cross the street in Washington. Oliver did not recognize his father and threatened to have him arrested for molesting them. It was not an hour before he knew him. Both men were shaking hands when "quelled."

The day of the explosion, Oliver said, "we were swimming. We saw the storm coming up, dressed and started for the barracks. When we were about a mile away, the first explosion occurred. I remember being tossed off the ground and that's all."

The men were unable to explain how they came to Toledo. Both had growths of beard on their faces. They were dressed in trousers and shirts. Moran had a blue coat with him.

BURSTS INTO TEARS.
Oliver burst into tears when he saw a concrete bridge that crosses a little stream in the rear of his home. "It looks like an ammunition dump," he said. "I'm afraid it is."

Oliver had $175 in his pocket when found and Moran seven cents. Marine corps officials were satisfied of their return and they will be taken to Detroit. There, a guard will be furnished to escort them to the Naval Hospital in Washington.

New Britain, Ct., Aug. 7 (A.P.).—The parents of Paul W. Moran, 18, a marine corps private, listed as missing since the explosion at Lake Denmark, N. J., have not heard from their son. Yet, Moran said today, "I am surprised to find that the two men located in Waterville, O., is Paul."

CODMAN FIGHTS B. & M. PLAN

Washington, Aug. 7 (A.P.).—A petition for reconsideration of the Interstate Commerce Commission's decision authorizing a refinancing of the Boston, Middlesex and Maine Railroad, filed with the commission today by John H. Codman, Jr., president of the Boston & Maine, setting for minority stockholders.

He declared the Boston & Maine is under no legal or compelling economic obligation at this time to undertake a refinancing and took issue with the commission's finding that the road for several years prior to 1924 had suffered an impairment of its credit due to a decrease in the market price of its securities.

FREE DR. CHENG IN $5000 BAIL

Pleading not guilty, Dr. Enwang W. Cheng, indicted for performing an alleged illegal operation on Miss Emma Warfield Swain, twenty-one-year-old Sargent School student, was released on $5,000 bail today and immediately afterward issued an unusual defendant's statement.

While he was in court, facing Judge Hammond for the arraignment in Superior Court, Miss Swain was reported showing marked improvement at Lawrence General Hospital where doctors at first despaired of saving her life.

Dr. Cheng issued his statement about the case through his attorneys, having written it in English for them to present to the newspaper. It read:

"After my dramatic arrest, I have appeared before the district attorney's assistant and made a statement. I was ready to appear before the Grand Jury. I accompanied the officers to a hospital for the purpose of seeing 'identities.' I assisted the officers in every way. I have allowed myself to be photographed for the education of the newspapers, not knowing what further to do for the law or the press. I suppose it would be well for us all in this weather to calm down and await 'intelligent judgment.'"

Whether the Chinese physician was poking fun at the handling of the case or seeking to impress the public with his candor toward the authorities was a subject of argument in police circles.

Dr. Cheng went by automobile to his cottage at Shore Acres, Scituate, when released.

FOG TIEUP; ALL BOATS LATE

Fog endangered shipping in Boston harbor today, disrupting ferry schedules, causing Nanantia steamers to run 15 to 20 minutes late, delaying the departure of coastwise vessels and hindering inbound freight liners. The harbor entrance is usually favorable conditions.

The harbor waters were thinned from the mist of persons along Atlantic avenue by a curtain of mist from which only the masts and funnels of fog-horns and shrill whistles and the toll of bells gave evidence of vessels trying to pick their way safely.

Commuters from Winthrop, Revere and South Shore pinkie arriving by ferry and steamers, were delayed 15 to 45 minutes.

WHITTIER'S NIECE WILLS $5,000 TO N. H. HOSPITAL

Balem, Aug. 7 (A.P.).—By the will of Miss Caroline C. Johnson, of Danvers, 100-year-old niece of the poet John G. Whittier, who died at Danvers, July 19, $5,000 is left to the Elliot Hospital, Manchester, N. H., for building a new bed to be known as the "Thomas Russell Butterfield fund" in memory of her brother-in-law, preference for given to patients from Danvers.

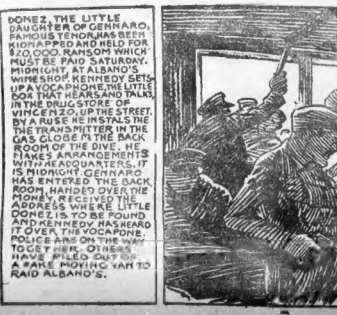

Her interest in "Oak Knoll," the great home of Whittier in Danvers, was as a part of the residue of her estate to William W. McCloud of Springfield.

PROTEST HIGH HUB TAXES

An organized protest against high taxes in Boston will be presented to Mayor Nichols at City Hall on Monday noon by a committee named by the Boston Real Estate Exchange.

Suggesting a sales tax as a way out of the taxation problem, the committee will urge vigorous measures to prevent any large increase in the tax rate from becoming a permanent fixture.

Mayor Nichols has already predicted a rate of 102.25 and a sales man for the Real Estate Exchange committee in disclosing the intended protest of 18.45 over the present rate may prove a bright on building enterprise.

GERTRUDE EDERLE

LYNN MERMAN HELPS TRUDIE

Louis E. Timen, 185-pound World War hero of Swampscott and Lynn, helped "Trudie" Ederle to conquer the treacherous channel, booming out encouragement to her in his forthright voice as she battled the waves near the Dover coast, the swiftest test of her abilities.

For a time he was in the water at her side, but his old-fashioned breast stroke, used by him and other noted long distance swimmers, was too slow to measure with Gertrude Ederle's rapid crawl, once considered only a sprinter's stroke.

Timen is about to attempt the channel crossing Aug. 16 under the auspices of Leon E. Abbott Post, No. 17, American Legion, of Swampscott.

It is a successful traveling salesman and a hero of World War campaigns with both the French and American forces, receiving bravery citations while serving under the tricolor, as well as under the Stars and Stripes.

Arriving aboard the tug of the Ederle expedition via a motor boat, which he put out from Dover,

Concerning a "Scoop"

THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN derives great satisfaction and pleasure from the fact that ONCE AGAIN it was able to present EXCLUSIVELY to its readers news that had commanded world-wide attention.

THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN was the only afternoon paper in Boston to tell of the successful swimming of the English Channel by the American girl, Miss Gertrude Ederle.

THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN which alone carried the news YESTERDAY to all of Greater Boston and in many parts of New England, told that Miss Ederle had negotiated the Channel in 14 hours and 34 minutes and that this was two hours under the record for the swim—all the outstanding facts.

Our great sporting events, such as the Dempsey-Tenney fight, the World Series and Intercollegiate football are close at hand, and THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN believes that its readers can do their friends a favor by calling their attention to the service that they have received on these matters in the past.

Timen stood in the bathing suit and was relieving Lillian Cannon of the channel party, as she left the water, encouraged by her speed, but after recovering he made a big hit with everybody by singing and shouting encouragement to her.

HUB SWIMMERS PRAISE TRUDIE

Greater Boston swimmers were loud in their praise of Trudie Ederle's epic feat, even those who hoped to swim down for themselves by making the Channel swim forgetting their disappointment in their good opportunity.

Stad Henry Sullivan, Lowell man who swam the Channel in 1925, "It was a wonderful swim—all that that need be said now. I was when I prophesied that no woman would ever make the swim."

Clara Wiles, a street swimmer, who failed in 1922, "I believe the record set by Miss Ederle will stand for many years. I don't think much more difficult swimmer of the world."

Eva Morrison, who hopes to make the swim next year, "I am so proud that I may be the second girl to make the swim."

John Levia, vice-president of the Boston Swimming Club, "The Ederle's wonderful speed is impossible to explain in terms of her own strength. She moved through the water as a piece almost of the sea. I saw her once at close range in the swim and I am convinced that she is the greatest American swimmer of her time."

"Trudie," Alone, Given Credit by Trainer

Dover, Eng., Aug. 7 (U.S.)—Gertrude Ederle alone is given the credit for her record-breaking trans-channel swim, for William Burgess, her veteran trainer, admitted today that twice during the grueling battle he advised her to give up the attempt.

Burgess said that at noon he felt that the American girl was failing and he advised her to leave the water, but she asked her head and swam on, high at 4 o'clock in the evening, he urged "Trudie" quit, but again she showed her head.

"I've got to get this swim," she said, referring to her father, "but I don't want to let him down. I'll keep on until I've made the swim."

Charles River basin and canoeing was struck by this amazing and American Swimming Original power of her stroke."

BALTIMORE GIRL TO TACKLE CHANNEL NEXT
Lillian Cannon of Baltimore, herself a swimmer of note, is shown here with her pet dog and the hearty words she uttered as Gertrude Ederle completed her remarkable feat of proving she is the first mistress of the treacherous English Channel. Miss Cannon plans also to swim the channel. She "paced" Miss Ederle part of the way.

'TODAY, POP, OR NEVER!' AND TRUDIE DID

Dover, Eng., Aug. 7 (U.S.)—"To be today or never, pop."

That is what Gertrude Ederle told her father when she was advised to abandon her channel swim yesterday, he father disclosed today.

"She said, 'It's today or never, pop,' and I said, 'Kidnie, finish it,' and she did," said "pop," beaming.

"I never thought she would make it in ten or eleven hours, and had the sea been calm she would have crossed in ten hours."

"It was the last two miles that made me anxious. I thought she was getting tired and we stopped. She cheerfully asked for some pineapple and when I gave it to her and asked how she felt, she said, 'Today or never, pop.'"

"The effort thing 'Trudie' wanted today was the newspapers. She wanted to read all about the swim. 'She is fresh and fit.'"

Miss Barrett Praises Trudie; Will Try Again

Dover, England, Aug. 7 (A.P.)—Miss Charlotte Barrett, New Rochelle, swimming instructor, who came within two miles of swimming the English Channel last Tuesday, was among the first to congratulate Gertrude Ederle on her success last night.

Miss Barrett told a correspondent for the Associated Press she believed Miss Ederle's record of 14 hours and 34 minutes would not be beaten by either man or woman.

MOTHER CRIES WITH JOY
Mrs. Henry Ederle cried for joy when she knew her daughter had crossed the channel, and she was kissed by two of her children who were with her, and some of the neighbors.

"I am the proudest mother in the world," she said, "but I knew Gertrude would do it this time. Gertrude is the best swimmer in the world. I'm sorry for Miss Charlotte Barrett, who made such a splendid effort and failed."

Mrs. Nathan Barrett, Charlotte's mother, in Pelham, N. Y., offered Miss Ederle her congratulations and said she hoped her own daughter would not try the Channel again.

"What's the use," she asked, "Miss Ederle was taken from the water two miles from her goal last week, after swimming forty miles, part of the time lost in fog."

PRaised BY GLENNA
Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, suffrage leader, recalled that forty years ago a female leader said, "Women's freedom would go hand in hand with her body's strength."

"The woman of today," said Mrs. Catt, "is a far better specimen physically than two generations ago, and is ashamed to be fit."

Mrs. Ederle's swim, she declared, was a triumph for the woman. Joseph V. McKee, acting mayor, and others joined in praise of Miss Ederle's accomplishment.

Says Corsets Beat Other Swimmers

Chicago, Aug. 7 (A.P.)—Corsets, petticoats, and fear kept women thirty years ago from achieving athletic victories such as that of Gertrude Ederle, Tom Robinson, swimming instructor at Northwestern University, said today.

Robinson coached Ryhl Bauer, Dick Howell, Bob Stuckton and other notables.

"A woman could not possibly have accomplished the same feat thirty years ago," he said, "for corsets and other unnecessary clothing deprived her of the muscular freedom so necessary in development of a swimmer. Conquest of fear will do more to bring about development of the woman athlete than almost anything else."

TRUDIE TOAST OF HOME TOWN

New York, Aug. 7 (A.P.)—Gertrude Ederle was the toast of her own home town of Manhattan today. Suffrage leaders, prominent athletes, politicians and traffic cops here and in neighboring communities, adorned and drew congratulations from the feat of the 19-year-old girl who was the first of her sex to swim the English Channel and broke the time records of her five male predecessors.

Work at her father's sausage factory was suspended for publication when the news came. Miss Ederle's sister, Helen, was in a New York newspaper office sending frequent dispatches to their mother at the Ederle Summer home in Highland, N. Y.

Miss Cannon Ready to Try Channel Any Day

Cape Gris Nez, Aug. 7 (U.S.)—Miss Lillian Cannon of Baltimore, who is in training for an attempt at the English Channel swim, said today she was not abandoned her plans to make the effort.

"I am ready to try any day, but I will have to wait for orders, to see whether they want me to swim or not," she said, evidently referring to the newspaper syndicate that is seeking her.

A GENTLEMAN OF NOTE is Bert Lytell in "The Lone Wolf Returns" at Loew's State. It's a first-class secondary story work, but he does it nobly for the sake of the boys.

BIG PAGEANT THRILLS AT EXPOSITION

All America is taking a course in history this summer in Philadelphia by seeing the performances of the outdoor pageant, "Freedom," produced by R. H. Burnside, and sponsored by the City of Philadelphia as its contribution to the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition.

Man's upward striving for freedom is the theme of the production which in the last analysis is an apology to the world's history with an apology to the French Revolution and the Fall of the Bastille are brought back to life. All this is the first section of the show. Then, because the Exposition celebrates the 150th anniversary of American freedom, the subject shifts to America and the great moments of our country's beginnings are shown.

It was the aim of the producers of "Freedom" to present an entertainment which would appeal to all sections of the nation. But "Freedom" has more than an appeal. It is interesting because of its magnitude and because of the many innovations in the world of the theatre which have been pressed into service to make it a success.

For all of its size, "Freedom" moves through its fifty-odd scenes with all of the precision of a production one-hundredth its bulk. Arranged in review as quickly and as easily as a group of dancers, the spots in the fifty scenes and the 4,000 people employed, everything is compressed into less than three hours of running time.

"Freedom" runs to the Municipal Stadium in Philadelphia will terminate, of course, with the coming of cold weather, about the middle of October. The show is presented three times a week, on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights and there are seats for 16,000 people.

Creators and Band Comes to Norumbega Soon
Shakespeare Creators and his band, now playing at the Philadelphia Sesqui-Centennial Exposition, will come to Boston on Sunday, August 15, to give an eight-day series of concerts at the Norumbega Park Theatre, Auburn.

Because of his fine leadership, Creators several years ago won the title of "The Evangelist of the Nation." He was born in Naples, was trained there, and since he was 18 years old has spent much of his time in the United States. But he often has taken his band abroad, and every capital of the world has applauded him. Coming with him to Boston will be Pauline Palma, the first woman to be crowned "Miss America" in 1921.

Creators' appearance at the Hippodrome Theatre, Boston, will be the last of his appearances in the city.

Looking Ahead
August 14—Gloria Swanson in "Fine Madness" at the Metropolitan.
August 15—"The Waltz Dream" and "The Northern Code" at Loew's State.
August 16—George Beben on the screen and in person in "Lovers of Rhinecliff" at the Metropolitan.
August 22—"So This is Paris!" at Loew's State.
August 23—"The Kid From West Philly" with Emil Jennings and Lya De Putti at the Metropolitan.

ADVANCEMENT OF SHUBERT OPENINGS

The theatres in Boston opened by the Messrs. Shubert will open their season on or about Labor Day, by which time it is expected that the city will have completed the repaving of Tremont street in the immediate vicinity of the Shubert and Wilbur Theatres.

The Shubert Theatre will open with Al Jolson in "Big Boy," but the exact date will depend upon the time of Mr. Jolson's return from Paris.

The opening attraction of the season at the Plymouth will be "The Great Gatsby," followed by Helen Hayes in "What Every Woman Knows," "The Enemy" and "The Butler and the Boy."

The Opera House will have, early in the season, the San Carlo Opera Company, Harry Lauder and all-star revivals of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado" and "Pirates."

The Wilbur Theatre's opening attraction has not yet been determined but one of the early attractions will be "One of the Family," with Grant Mitchell.

The Messrs. Shubert announce that extensive alterations, including redecoration and re-planting in all their Boston houses, make it impossible to open their Boston season earlier than Labor Day.

FILM FARE FOR NEXT WEEK

METROPOLITAN—(Starting today) "The Show-Off," with Ford Sterling, Lois Wilson, Gregory Kelly and Louise Brooks in the principal roles. The story was adapted from George Keller's stage success of the same name and pictures the blustering blunders of the incorrigible Aubrey Piper and his more or less fortunate marriage into the long-suffering Fisher family. On the stage, Dan Quilley's "Minstrel Memories" will see the return of this pleasant type of entertainment. There will be and-mus, soft-shoe artists, banjoists and a number of cavorting chorists as extra company for the blackface comedians. An additional feature is the concert appearance of Ray Sliester Ball and her brother, Michael, in string instrument numbers.

OLYMPIA—(Starting tomorrow) "Her Honor the Governor," with Pauline Frederick, who has returned to the screen as the star of this film. Included in the supporting cast are Tom Santschi, Grete Von Rint and Boris Karloff. The story, by Hyatt Dasher and Wend Dickinson, tells of the tangled interests of a woman who, as governor of a great State, is forced to make a hard choice between love and duty. The vaudeville feature is the Hermsfeldt Company in "Melody and Rhythm."

LOEW'S STATE—"The Return of the Lone Wolf," with Bert Lytell and Billie Dove in the featured roles. The story was adapted from the original Louis Joseph Vance novel. As companion feature, "Then Came the Woman," with Frank Mayo and Cullen Landis, will be shown. On the stage, the Californian "Night Hawks" band will appear in a combination classic and jazz program.

FENWAY—(Starting today) "Footloose Widows," starring Louise Fazenda and Jacqueline Logan. The film was adapted from a story by Blanche Barton and pictures the comic happenings of two scrambled romances. The associated feature presents Conway Tearle and Barbara Bedford in "The Sporting Lover," adapted to the screen by Cary Wilson from the old Drury Lane melodrama, "Good Luck." Starting Wednesday, "Pals First," starring Dolores Del Rio and Lloyd Hughes. The story of a boy who risked a million to find out his true friends. On the same bill appears Ben Lyon in "The Savage," with May McAvoy.

ORPHEUM—"Law Tylor's Wives," adapted from the Wallace Irwin novel, and featuring Frank Mayo, Helen Lee Worthing and Ruth Clifford. A romantic drama of unrequited love.

MEXICAN LABOR PARADES IN SUPPORT OF CALLES

MANY SLAIN IN MEXICO CLASH

In Tlalcohuac there was blood shed but the number of dead is not known.

In Cuernavaca a judge attempting to make an inventory of church property was killed by a multitude of revolutionaries.

The Episcopate bulletin also states that the situation is critical in the State of Zacatecas. In Northern Mexico, where "bellezas" were the temples have manifested their intention of defending them by force.

Episcopate advises received from Toluca, the capital of Michoacan, that the economic boycott is having a formidable effect with cities and towns in mourning and religious blaspheming merchants and professional men considered enemies of their race. Theaters, picture houses and business places are closed in many towns.

Mexican Congress May Ease Anti-Catholic Laws

Mexico City, Aug. 7 (A.P.)—The passage in the struggle between the government and the Catholic Church in Mexico may possibly be solved through the enactment here of the Congress, which convenes Sept. 1, of religious regulations less drastic than those which went into effect a week ago—that is the hope held in some circles.

Legislation on the religious subject is expected to be one of the first things taken up by the Congress. It may result in Congressional reaffirmation of Calles' regulations, in a contest between the President and Congress on the subject, or on the passage of milder regulations.

Charges "Sensational Side" of Controversy Stressed

San Francisco, Aug. 7 (A.P.)—An opinion that advantage has been taken of the sensational side of the religious situation in Mexico and that only one aspect of the problem has been presented, was expressed here by Aaron S. Aron, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Mexico, in a connection with answers to written questions submitted to him by newsmen.

"There is no persecution on the part of the government, the statement read, but the attitude of a subversive character that the different religious elements have been assuming in Mexico has compelled the government to enforce what the provisions of the Mexican law establish on the question, starting with the fundamental principle of absolute separation between the church and the state.

"The government of President Calles has been entirely and absolutely devoted to an intense organization facing the situation of important national problems. In the midst of these circumstances the high dignitaries of the Catholic Church have positively refused to recognize the present constitution and have publicly urged the people to disobey it. The unresisting attitude on the part of the Catholic Church has compelled the government to act in an energetic manner."

WATCH 5 HALL WITNESSES

Jersey City police force announced he would return today to assist in the questioning, but it was unknown whether Senator Simpson would be here.

Six witnesses were examined yesterday. Three of them were servants in the Hall household at the time of the murder: Barbara Tough, maid; Marie O'Brien, cook; and Timothy, gardener and chauffeur. The other three were Mrs. M. M. Hall, the church; Dr. William H. Long, Somerset County physician; and Raymond Schneider, who discovered the bodies.

Miss Tough declared the intimacy between Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills was "common knowledge" among his parishioners and was a frequent topic for jokes among the Hall servants. Those questioned hitherto have denied this.

Miss Tough said on the morning the bodies were found Mrs. Hall gave her a pair of white silk socks with instructions, "Wash them for him." Those were the socks, Miss Tough said, in which the slain priest was buried. Miss Tough also said she heard Mrs. Hall answer the telephone before word had come of the finding of the bodies and that she heard her say, "The doctor is out of town, don't tell me anything over the telephone."

Mrs. Clarke said she had never seen Dr. Hall, but she knew he was a doctor and his office was in the city. She said she was "in the way" of the Hall household.

WIFE DYING, HE BLAMES SONS

Mexico City, Aug. 7 (U.S.A.)—Mrs. Eleanor Baumach Phillips Howard, formerly of Milwaukee, second wife of John Franklin Howard of Havana, Ill. Mass., is reported dying.

Howard's marriage to Mrs. Phillips raised a fine family row that has been raging for many weeks. Howard's sons maintain he obtained a fraudulent divorce and the marriage to Mrs. Phillips is invalid.

Physicians hold no hope for his wife's recovery and Howard charged that her condition is due to the "diastolic pericarditis" he says she contracted while in Mexico fighting for a while against her mother, who is said to have been in Havana.

MAN KILLED, ANOTHER INJURED IN CRASH

Dunbury, Ct., Aug. 7 (A.P.)—A gasoline propelled motor car on the Dunbury-Bridgewater line of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, struck a motor truck on a crossing near Steepway today, killing William Farrer, twenty-three, of Danbury, and seriously injuring his brother, Kenneth, eighteen. The latter was taken to a Bridgeport hospital.

WIFE WHO GIVES HALF TO HUSBAND TAXABLE

Washington, Aug. 7 (A.P.)—A wife who contracts with her husband to give him half of her income cannot deduct that amount as a business expense from her taxable income, the board of tax appeals held today.

The decision was given in the case of Mrs. Edwina Appleby Holmgren of New York, who explained she and her husband, a sea captain, agreed upon their marriage in 1907 that she would give him half of her income and pay half of the home expenses if he gave up the sea.

A second circuit court read: "I hereby agree, for value received and on condition that my husband, William Appleby Holmgren, give up his seafaring profession, and take from home to divide all moneys coming to me from every source so to take half and I to take half, as long as we live together; all home and other expenses to be shared equally."

BUFFALO JURY FINDS PASTOR NOT GUILTY

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 7 (A.P.)—After an all-night trial, the jury in the case of the Rev. L. R. H. Smith today brought in a verdict of not guilty. Mr. Smith was accused of public indecency, a policeman swearing he found the clergyman in a compromising position with a woman member of his congregation in a parked automobile late at night on a country road. Mr. Smith swore he had been teaching the woman to drive the car and they had stopped to seek directions when they became lost.

Jan Masaryk Lauds Inspiration of American Womanhood

The Czechoslovakian Minister to Great Britain, who is spending August at Woods Hole, says: "The Inspiration of American Womanhood has been both potent and immediate in the development of the Czechoslovakian Republic. We have adopted your American slogan of 'Pay as You Go.' I tell my friends in Europe 'Nothing is more stupid than always to urge America to join the League of Nations.'"

SUMMER SLIPS BUT STARS OF SPORT STILL STRIVE

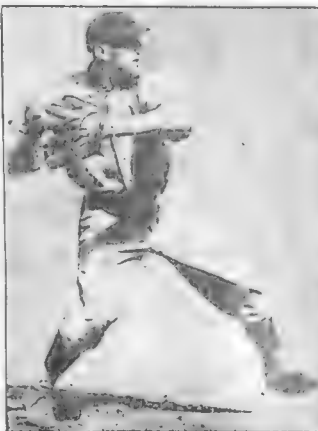

SETTLING SKILL was displayed by Russell Codman of the Union Boat Club, Boston, when he represented this city in the Philadelphia annual regatta on the Schuylkill River.

SWIFT AND SURE is Edith Murray, one of the fair contestants in the Scotch picnic games at Caledonia Grove, West Roxbury today.

WATER SPRITE is Ethel McGary, one-mile champion in the Women's National A. A. U. meet at Philadelphia. Miss McGary is one of our best all-around girl swimmers, noted especially for her almost perfect "kick."

SLUGGING PIE Traynor from Somerville, the world's champion Pirates' leading hitter, who held the league lead for a while last week. Pie sure can sock 'em!

DOWN ON THE FARM. Gene Tunney, who will fight Jack Dempsey, if nothing goes wrong, milks of boss at his temporary training quarters in Summit. N. J. Babe Herman is interested.

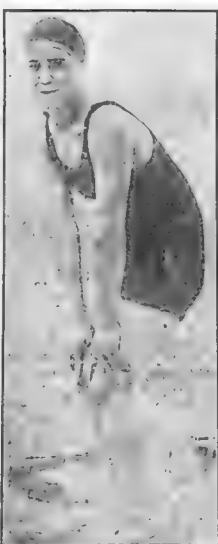

JUST a pair of champs: Johnnie Weissmuller and Ethel Lackie, crack swimmers. John shows Ethel how light she is.

SYNTHETIC CHAMP. They say synthetic champs don't prove much, but Red Chapman has Pittsburgh on Monday at Braves Field.

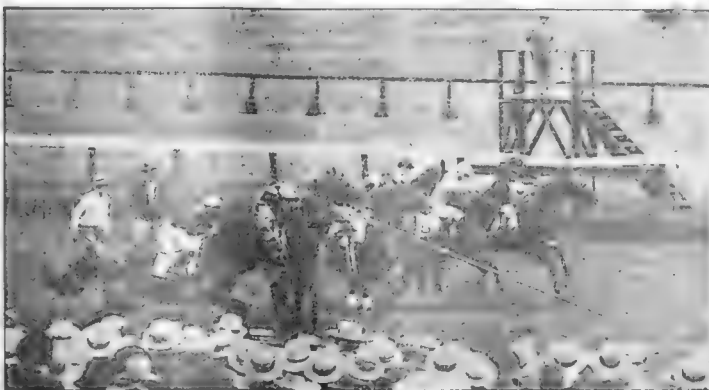

KID LEE N. E. welter champ, who is slated to fight Jack Zivic of "THE GAME BEFORE THE PRIZE." Gertrude Ederle, in her attacks on the English Channel, is motivated more by the sport of the proposition than by any material reward in sight. It's real sportsmanship.

NOT TOO MUCH YET! Ban Johnson, American League prey, emphatically denies reports that he is going to quit. He is now in a hospital, but intends to take the reins again as soon as he gets out.

LIVING UP TO HIS NAME. Ethereal, ridden by Jockey Haviland, breezes through to a victory in the first race of the second day's racing at Saratoga. Close behind is Genuine, beaten by a bare nose for the purse. Ethereal is a fine monicker for a horse who can leave his field behind as quickly as Ethereal did.

BACK AGAIN. Miles, B. A. A. M. record holder, comes back to the Hub for another race at the Scotch picnic games.

Willard Cooper, veteran south-paw, last week was given his unconditional release by the Detroit Tigers.

FOR MONDAY, AUG. 8

First race, 100 yds, 10:00 a.m.

A KANSAS City doctor asserts that an experienced physician can tell the volume of blood in an individual's body by studying the palm of the hand.

THE first national convention of the Progressive Party was held at Chicago on August 7, 1912. Theodore Roosevelt was nominated for President. The nominee in his speech of acceptance welcomed the opportunity to battle for the people.

Joslyn Poe, daughter of a proud, but impoverished Virginia family, wants a career, not marriage. Her mother wants her to wed. The wild blood of a line of daring women runs in her veins. She wants adventure. A seeress tells her of the "wildness" in her blood. She goes to a dance. She determines she will settle her problem that night—to marry George Ramsom, well-to-do, but no dandy, or—go to New York in seek of adventure. She meets a stranger at the dance.

Milton Stein, the stranger, advises Joslyn to go to the city and to dance. Joslyn, hungry and discouraged, is heard weeping by Kittie Lane, a manicurist. Kittie gets Lee Rogers, a friend, to invite them to dinner.

While the girls are at the table with Rogers, James Kelvin, movie star, attempts to cultivate Joslyn's acquaintance. There is a near row with Rogers. Kelvin goes away leaving with Joslyn a sense of some strange influence over her. A few days afterward Kittle is brought home blind from bad booze. Joslyn rushes to Stein's Academy to take a job as a "Taxi Dancer" to care for Kittle. In the academy she meets Stephen Bates, a man-about-town, who offers to go to Kittle's help.

Kittie's life and sight are saved by the doctors secured by Bates. They both go to a party at Bates'. Kelvin is there. He kills Bates in a quarrel.

Article saved Jocelyn by telling the police that the death row was over her.

With Kelvin hiding in her apartment Joslyn is called by the district attorney. She beats him. Police watch her flat. Great luck comes to Joslyn. She is offered $250 per week as a dancer. Brierhalter asks her not to accept and offers her $500.

Weariness, physical and mental, descended on her with an enveloping pall and swept a cog down town. Jean relaxed and let the driver speed up. A hotel for the night promised sounder rest than returning to the apartment and resuming the inevitable struggles with Kelvin. She had some money in her pocket and took a room at the Woodbine, an expensive hotel.

himself. "I blame night," the clerk disengaged himself from a surreptitious telephone conversation behind the desk and reluctantly examined her signature on the note.

"What's the reason?"

"I missed my train," she said. "It's too late to go home."

"What time is it now?"

"About twelve."

"The clerk wrote down a number and rang for a bell-boy, who delivered him a key and a small envelope. "Go to the room," he said. "I'll be waiting."

"As soon as she was in bed she opened the envelope and found a note from the hotel operator confirming this in two hours she was due at a Coetza uptown apartment for her first rehearsal of their dancing act. She was the more determined. Joelyn was conscious of a glorious return of physical energy; of having slept so long and so soundly that she could now face the day with wit and guile. The supply of her strength was inexhaustible. She felt she were weary of twenty years' work when a thought full of the clear-eyed and valiantly independent

At a coin booth in the lobby his telephone rang her apartment. She wanted to tell him she was sorry, but he was right. Now, with the surge of a new day in her veins, she knew she had to make a decision. Her resentment, to forgive her frenzy for an act of overindulgence—either to remember him for his charm, his good looks, or the way he had shared his life. She wasn't answered and as she walked away, she remembered he had called her instructions for him not to answer.

By three o'clock she had rung the bell of the Costa's apartment and had been admitted by a colored maid to her surprisingly luxurious quarters. The Costa's had come into the little hall where she came in and shook her hand gravely and then took her into a large carpeted room at the front of the apartment. A young woman, tall, slender and dark with a Mona Lisa smile came in, put her hand on the maid's shoulder, bobbing on a

"I just put over a big deal," said Cabby. "We'll go out right now and celebrate." Merry regretted for the rest of her life telling him why she couldn't go.

Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Glasgow, Ky.—"I am the mother of seven children, the eldest being only 12 years old. I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped to pull me through the roughest places of my married life. At one time I was so downhearted that my life was a misery. A friend told me that Mrs. Indiana had used the vegetable Compound, and after taking a few bottles of it I became well again and was able to go to the housework and gardening. Since then I always use your medicine when I feel weak from overwork. It strengthens me."
